Wildheart

Winterborn

He's been a drifter all his life
He's been to places that you will never find
And all the things, and all the lies
He has seen the betrayal a million timesEvery time he looked around, there was nobody there
That he could trust, full of lies they were
Now everytime he will be, the one who don't care
About anything and anyone no moreSo full of lies
Oh, no more
Won't pay the price
Oh, no moreAnd forever he will travel on
No need to find his place
Only broken hearts he left behind
There is noone who can tame this WildheartOut from the shadows, into the light
One of a kind, you can't stop him tonight
Still moving on from town to town
He is dressed into veil of mysteryLike a tiger in a cage, there's no chains he can't break
Can't tie him down, there's no use to try
Now just look into his eyes, you can't break the ice
A heart of stone wants noone 'roundCan't tie him down
Oh, no one
No one around
Oh, aroundAnd forever he will travel on
No need to find his place
Only broken hearts he left behind
There is noone who can tame this WildheartHe'll find his way, don't care about the pain
Though the trail of tears he'll march on every day
No one to blame, still feeds the flame
Oh, for this burning heartAnd forever he will travel on
No need to find his place
Only broken hearts he left behind
There is noone who can tame this Wildheart
