The Humpty Dumpty Love Song

Travis

All of the King's horses and all of the King's men
Couldn't pull my heart back together again
All of the physicians and mathematicians too
Failed to stop my heart from breaking in two'Cause all I need is you
I just need you

Yeah, you got the clue

So, I'm gonna give my heart to youI had a premonition, a movie in my mind Confirming my suspicions of what I would find

It followed me to a way, down to Mexico

Came in through the back door at the start of the showStill all I need is you

I just need you

Yeah, you got the clue

So I give my heart to youOh, was a perfect day

Oh, in a perfect way

You know something had to go

You left me high

You left me low

Now as I lie in pieces and wait for your return The sun upon my forehead, it burns baby burns, baby burns

An eye on all my horses

You've slept with all my men

I'm never gonna get it together againStill all I need is you

I just need you

Yeah, you got the clue

So I give my heart to youYeah, you got the clue

And there's nothing I can do

Yeah, you got the clue

Give my heart to you
