

Many Happy Returns

Bridget St. John

When I accepted this job
I was resigned to my fate
When I got there early
Shed arrive late You can say shes gone forever
Or just sit tight and wait
She said I was unprincipled
That I was not the first Like the phoenix coming back
From the ashes, uh huh
I know whats good
But I know what trash is In the head lights
In the highlights of her hair
Hit the head lines
But shes not there Many happy returns, many happy returns
These are the lessons I could have learned
Return, many happy returns
And these are the letters I should have burned Okay, Im sad, not blue
Okay, remember
All that matters to me now
Is the message I sent her Like the world, spinning round
On its axis, uh huh
I know democracy
But I know whats fascist When shes gone, all I've got to learn
Is the law of diminishing return
When shes here one thing Ive found
Things get better second time around Return, many happy returns
These are the lessons that I could have learned
Return, many happy returns
And these are the letters I should have burned Okay Im sad, not blue
Okay, remember
All that matters to me now
Is the message I sent her Now shes gone, shes gone away
Now shes gone forget her
Coming back another day
If youd only let her And now shes gone, shes gone away
But now shes gone forget her
I'm coming back no other day
So why resurrect her? Many happy returns, many happy returns
These are the lessons I should have learned
Many happy returns, many happy returns

And these are the letters I should have burned

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>