Connections

Criteria

i remember when we first met through a friend of a friend of a friend we were fortunate to have metand to month is so later i guessed affection had settled in this is where it begins not where it ends but i know that ive made some mistakes we can review my mistakes and come to know a better way but in the end im the same
just look at the dna
is it possible
to be so confused
at this point
and its rational that its logical there is no point in denying it to yourselfcontrol i'm in control decisions arent made for me they're made on my ownthey know that ive made some mistakes we can reveiw my mistakes
there is no point in denying give yourself a chance, you might like itwe must make connections we must make connections
