Walk Like You Don't Mind

Blue Rodeo

There's a light that shining down on me
Through my window pane
An angel one night came to me
I wish that angel'd come back here again
I wish he'd come back againWhen you're walking across the river for the very last time
Leaving all your friends and family far behind
Walk like you don't mindSomeone help me out here please
I ain't seen the sun in days
The rain is pounding down on me
Washing everything I know away
Everything I know awayWhen you're walking through the darkness and the path is hard to find
A chorus of your enemies is calling to you from the end of time
Walk like you don't mindCome on down to the river's edge
And look out to the sea
You can curse the heavens all you want
Say Lord, why have you never noticed me?
You never notice me.But when your time has come for traveling and the hill's too steep to climb
You're looking for some comfortBut it's trouble that you always seem to find
Walk like you don't mindWalk like you don't mind
Walk like you don't mind
Walk like you don't mind
Walk like you don't mind
