The Memory

Roy Ayers

She is everywhere I go
Everyone I see
Winter's gone and I still can't sleep and Summer's on the way
At least that's what they say
But these clouds won't leave
Walk away
I'm barely breathing
As I'm lying on the floor
Take my heart
As you're leaving
I don't need it anymore
This is the memory
This is the curse of having
Too much time to think about it
It's killing me
This is the last time
This is my forgiveness
This is endless
Now spring has brought the rain
But I still see your face
And I can not escape the past
Creeping up inside
Reminding me that I
Can never bring you back
This is the memory

This is the curse of having
Too much time to think about it
It's killing me
This is the last time
This is my forgiveness
This is endless
This is endless [3x]
Someone help me
'Cause the memory
Convinced itself to tear me apart
And it's gonna succeed before long
This is the memory

This is the curse of having
Too much time to think about it
It's killing me
This is the last time
This is my forgiveness
This is endless
This is endless
'Cause the memory
(This is endless)
She is everywhere I go
Everyone I see
