Facelift

The Honor System

The plan's begun to snuff you out
No need for subtleties
It's too late for that now
A facelift ripped through flesh, left bleeding
The plastic beauty radiatesThe dam has cracked and sprung a leak
The pressure's going to blow the whole damn thing
Flood of mammoth proportions, they call it cleansing
Wash the less beautiful ones outCalculated cold-blooded vision
A money driven regime
They won't try to fix what they've broken
Throw the old one out
Replacing human beingsThe trains are revealing lookouts as they spider web above the scene
A new Chicago with the old one left dwindling in between The machines tore a path straight through the ghetto
It's an ugly makeover
