

Safer to Hate Her

You Me at Six

And too much, much is never enough
I had you and I gave you up
And no, I don't know where my mind where was for months
I woke up, I cashed in all of my luck
It walked in hand with your trust
And everybody was kissing fire
And we all got burned It'd be safer to hate her
Than love her and lose her
It'd be safer to hate her all around Caught you having a laugh
Did you catch me have the last?
And I've been smiling like this for days
Just to make up for my mistakes
In the dark, I watch everyone disappear
And I'm beginning to let myself down
And I'm pushing everyone that was in, out It'd be safer to hate her
Than love her and lose her
It'd be safer to hate her all around And nobody knows what it's like
When we die on the inside
And nobody knows what it's like
To be one of a kind When we die, do we feel alive?
When we die, do we feel alive? It'd be safer to hate her
Than love her and lose her
It'd be safer to hate her all around And nobody knows what it's like
When we die on the inside
And nobody knows

Songwriters

Franceschi, Josh / Helyer, Max / Barnes, Matt / Miller, Chris / Flint, Dan Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>