

Skin and Bones

Trevor Morgan

I'm on the run
I'm incognito
Moving through these deserted streets
I'm underground
Like a torpedo
I don't want anybody finding me
It used to be so easy
To keep the world away
And hide my angry eyes behind a smiling face
But everything has changed
Oh, you can see inside my soul
Oh, to the places no one knows
More than skin and bones
I'm out of tricks
And excuses
All the ink in my well is dry
You broke the code
You lit my fuses
You see the way I really am
The bruises and the tears
Behind the walls I built up for years and years
Now the coast is clear
More than meets the ear
More than meets the eye
More than taste, more than touch could ever classify
You're looking deep inside
Oh, you can see inside my soul
Oh, to the places no one knows
More than surface
More than skin and bones
