

Sundown

Slowtide

Sundown, and noone around, seems I end up where I started aground, a feeling profound to be broken and downhearted

why should I deceive myself, that the road is really changing from here, and that is sincere, I can picture where it's ranging

So I abide the ways that never lead to the right knowing how things will turn out, I can safely let them slide, 'til new sunrise
