

You and You Alone

Vince Gill

If we have to wait forever, that's alright
If you say, "Let's run away," we'll leave tonight
I'd do anything you ever asked me to
Girl, the reason my heart's beating is for you and you alone
There's a price to pay for every choice you make We'll have our day no matter what it takes
I'll be there for you whatever we go through
Girl, the reason life's worth living is for you and you alone
Oh, you and you alone are with me from now on
Even if I never see your face again
The love that you have shown is unlike anything I've known
We both know it's just a matter of when
I wish that we could just turn back the hands of time
And find a way to have your world fit into mine
I'll keep dreaming that someday it all comes true
Girl, the reason my heart's breaking is for you and you alone
