My Disaster

Seether

I believe that your words are fateful, I believe you're the broken one
I believe that your words enable, now somebody better hide my gun
I believe that your tears are fable, I believe that you stole my sun
I believe that your wounds are fatal, now you're really gonna have some fun
Let me cross the line now, so I feel aliveSo don't let me down again, praise me, free me
So don't let me down again, you're key to my disaster
So don't let me down again, blame me, bleed me
So don't let me down again, you're key to my disasterI can see there are thoughts unfaithful, and I concede that my heart is black
You believe that you should be able, to bruise my body and to break my back
You believe that my mind is feeble, and every day I reveal the cracks
I believe this is finally over, now I've suffered through my last attack
Let me cross the line now, so I feel aliveSo don't let me down again, praise me, free me
So don't let me down again, you're key to my disaster
So don't let me down again, blame me, bleed me
So don't let me down again, you're key to my disasterLet me cross the line, now, so I feel aliveSo, please don't let me down again, praise me, free me
So don't let me down again, you're key to my disaster
So don't let me down again, blame me, bleed me
So don't let me down again, you're key to my disasterKey to my disaster

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/