

What You Are

Joan Osborne

All the ladies, on the [Incomprehensible] they start to dance
It's been a long time, don't you wish you had a chance What do you wish you were
Do you wish you were the silence of the moon
Nobody knows but maybe you will be soon I used to think the side walk was the way
Always waiting for my lucky day
Over and over every patch of gray
One day inside me I was lucky anyway What do you wish you were
Do you wish you were the light of every star
Nobody knows but maybe that's just what you are All night can't all the singing stars
All night is where you want to know you are What do you wish you were
Do you wish you were the light of every star
Nobody knows but maybe that's just what you are
Nobody knows but maybe that's just what you are
