Forever Can Be

Ashes Divide

It must have been very hard
To have lived and never learned to be Content with who you are.
We all want the same things, don't we?
To find the one who'll open channels to our hearts.
A path you never found upon your own.Forever can be something to believe in.
This was one of those times.
Forever can be something to bleed for.
This is one of those times.So, you dug deep down inside yourself.
You revealed and romanced the pain to be
What makes you who you are.
We all want you to see the you we see.
The one who carries the worlds tragedies alone.
The cross you chose to bare upon your own.Forever can be something to believe in.
I wish this was one of those times.
Forever can be something to bleed for.
And this is one of those times for those you left behind.You save the world, so you don't have to save yourself.
You save the world, so you don't have to look yourself andFill the void left inside your fragile heart.
Those haunted images never left you alone.Forever can be something to believe in.
This was one of those times.
Forever can be something to bleed for.
Now this is one of those times.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/