Satanic Surfers

is that really you or just a mantel of identity you throw on as sonn someone is around then get undressed tear it down this wall of expectations to fit into the congregation dress codes attitudes brought to you by some money hungry corporation its all make-believed a rebellion cut to fit and made acceptable is this really us or are we becoming just another product formed and confined by the expectations of others of who we are and what we should do but if we only aimed to please you we would still be playing the same old songs as yesterday and if you dont understand what i mean... well what can i say? 'hero of our time' was a funny song back then nut to play it today would be king of lame...
