deoneun sirin gyeoul nun nokdeut sarajyeo English translation: like the lights on the street, turning on one by one the cold and white winter has come seasons of good times pass seasons of exhaustion pass as I got to meet you, who I longed for I carefully take out the box that I hid deep inside and take out our memories that we made last winter at the twinkling stars all night, we softly smiled under the tree, without anyone knowing I hid my heart as you held my hand after going around the earth a few times, I met you again only you held me so warmly a white snow that resembles you falls it builds up cozily

and disappears like snow melting in the cold winter ah baby~ outside the frost covered window, I see you the light spreads and your smile as well another memory builds up again this winter, it's even more special, Christmas tree a long winter passes and the lights turn off and darkness comes like night but I don't care, your smile is still so clear after going around the earth a few times, I met you again
and disappears like snow melting in the cold winter you shine like you came down from the sky like a shadow from the faraway darkness you're like a star fallen on top of my head after time passes and the seasons pass I hope we won't change, I hope it won't end, I make this wish after going around the earth a few times, I met you again
after going around the earth a few times, I met you again
it builds up cozily and disappears like snow melting in the cold winter
