11:59

Jonny Diaz

eleven fifty nine pm and i lie in my bed awake afraid that tomorrow and all of itâ€™s problems are only a minute away i guess thatâ€™s how iâ€™ve always been never content with my place but scared at the very thought of growing up and how i compete in that race but you are the one who controls all time can i bring you all of my fears tonight cause itâ€™s getting cold and itâ€™s sad but true that itâ€™s been a while since i laid here with you i have been hiding from you silly you know where iâ€™m at i guess it just took me here scared and alone to spur on this overdue chat sorry that iâ€™m rambling on i just need you to hold me tight and please will you stay with me until the morning cause i am so lonely tonight billions of people each with their needs but i am so thankful that youâ€™re here with me i know itâ€™s me who has fled the scene and you have been waiting there patiently prodigal son i have chased my pride but youâ€™re always there with your arms open wide

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/