

Sing For the Stars

Dylan Gardner

Sing for the stars
All of them shining out from your heart
There's no denying right from the start, I'd be the one to hold you
Sing for the skies
Shining when I look into your eyes
You know when I'm with you I could just die
And start it all over again like we were only kids
Sing for the stars
Sing for the brightest stars
Baby you know, one day they will be ours
Tripped on a wish
Stumbled to find it end with a kiss
Brought home with all the days that we've missed staring into the night
The stars brightly shown, but slowly they faded
But that's all she wrote, and I can't even read it
Never let go; I'll be there just to hold you
Sing for the stars
Sing for the brightest stars
Baby you know, one day they will be ours
This is who we are
We're always fighting scars
Can we really live without each other?
This is who we are
We've traveled very far
Can we really live without?
Sing for the stars
Sing for the brightest stars
Baby you know, one day they will be ours
Sing for the stars
Sing for the brightest stars
Baby you know, one day they will be ours
