

Burning Bridges

Crimson Glory

We've all been hurt before
You know the pain
And just to love is not enough, no
So many times I've had to turn away
From love I know could be so true to me
Now I stand alone in my dark and lonely world
Surrounded by this cold embrace of jealousy
No feeling remains like the restless heart
Naked in the frozen winds of sorrow
So cold, so cold
Now I feel the bridges burning
Flames reflecting in my eyes
The feelings much too cold to share
Another broken heart to spare
Smoke clouds, dreams, I left behind
Never meant to bring you sorrow
I never meant to cause you pain
I know how it burns so deep inside
It's burning me too
Leave me silent in the morning light
Hold me close till the morning comes again
Oh, pain, pain, I need you so badly, so badly
Tell me lies if truth reveals your love, your love
I feel the flames are rising
The bridge is falling, the bridge is burning
I never knew that I would need you
I always thought you would be there
Now I feel the bridges burning
Flames reflecting in my eyes
I never meant to bring you sorrow
Never meant to cause you pain
Still thinking of you
You know I love you still

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>