

All I Ask of You

Michael Crawford

in comes the dawn,
i'm falling asleep with my hair pressed against your flaws on my love (my love) and something got in the way and your soul turned black as the sun grows somber, took my heart and my love (my love)
all i ask of you, all i ask of you just open up a little bit more, just open a little bit more (open up a little bit more).
all i ask of you, all i ask of you,
just open up a little bit more, just open up a little bit more.
(open up a little bit more)(open up a little bit more) just open up a little bit more (open up a little bit more)
open up a little bit more (open up a little bit more)

all i ask of you just open up a little bit more just open up a little bit more just open up a little bit more
all i ask of you, all i ask of you
just open up a bit little more, just open up a bit little more open up a little more
all i ask of you, all i ask of you
just open up a bit little more, just open up a bit little more open up a little more open up a little bit more X2
open up a little bit more X8
open up a little bit more X2

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>