Clear The Coast

36 Crazyfists

Ever since the fall I've abandoned all the shadows
Replacing history with moral victories
And this light around my body, what it seems to be
I'm still coming clean tonightWhen we fall from grace we must rise from the deadAnd it's all just going away, the way I see it
Its the hardest thing I'll ever find myself
And its here we fear the most
And there's nothing that can dim this light
At least from this distanceAll that I've become from the greatest of my failures
Casting the glory from reflections of my fate
And this light around my body and what it seems to be
I'm still coming clean tonightWhen we fall from grace we must rise from the deadAnd it's all just going away, the way I see it
It's the hardest thing I'll ever find myself
And it's here we fear the most
And there's nothing that can dim this light
At least from this distance, at least from this distanceI've made amends, looked past the coast to no end
I've seen beyond the falling sky
And in my escape the road behind comes crashing
I'm not afraid to dieWhen we fall from grace we must rise from the deadAnd its all just going away, the way I see it
It's the hardest thing I'll ever find myself
And it's here we fear the most, the mostAnd it's all just going away, the way I see it
And it's here we fear
And there's nothing that can dim this light
