

The Future That Never Was

Powerman 5000

Have you nothing to contribute? Have you nothing to contribute? Have you nothing to contribute to a discussion on which depends the world civilization, perhaps perhaps even our very existence?]

much

But the sound of the sound you heard was serious

So take back everything you ever got

Cause this is the future that

That never was

That's right[I never would have imagined it would be anything like this]

Right

[I never would have imagined it would be anything like this]The page has turned around from what it was

So maybe I'll hate you now just because

The burden is tiresome and has become

The same as the future that

That never was

That's right[I never would have imagined it would be anything like this]

Right

[I never would have imagined it would be anything like this]The dream that you dreamed about

It never came

Step back and look around

Now who's to blame

Your voice is weaker now

It's just a buzz

That sounds like the future that

That never was
