

Seventy Times Seven

David Meece

This prison has no walls
This bondage has no chains
My memories have no mercy
There's no one left to blame
Wish I could force back the hands of time
And right every wrong
Grant me just this one last chance
Before it's gone, gone, gone, gone
How could I be so blind as to doubt Your love?
How can I go on living without Your love?
Seventy times seven
Will You forgive me for all that I've done?
Seventy times seven
I'm so afraid of what I've become
For all the promises laid to waste
For all the seeds unsown
For all the justice I never faced
I must now atone
Is there a soul that can't be saved?
Is there a heart that has no hope?
Is there a peace that can still be made?
Please say, it's so
How could I be so blind as to doubt Your love?
How can I go on living without Your love?
Seventy times seven
Will You forgive me for all that I've done?
Seventy times seven
I'm so afraid of what I've become
Seventy times seven
Will You forgive all that I've done?
Seventy times seven
I'm so afraid of what I've become
And if I should kneel before You
Would You lay Your hands on me or turn me away?
And even if I should tremble
Deep in my heart, I won't be afraid
I won't be afraid
Seventy times seven
(I won't be afraid, I won't be afraid)
Seventy times seven
(I won't be afraid, no, no, no)
Seventy times seven
Will You forgive me for all that I've done?
Seventy times seven
I'm so afraid of the man I've become
Seventy times seven
Will You forgive all that I've done?
Seventy times seven
Your love can save me from what I've become
Seventy times seven
Seventy times seven
Seventy times seven

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>