

March

Jirah

My strength, my strength fades
My strength fades away
Slowly with the setting sun
The night brought
Its darkness and its storms
And the floods that came
Reflected a dull moon
Violent winds raged
Beneath the stars that didn't shine
Emptied
Of myself
I fell
To the ground
Slowly through the destruction
Came a single quiet
Voice
And the breath of His words
Consumed
The night and brought strength I have never Felt on my own
And He held me up
Until I could walk again
And promised
To stay by my side forever
