

Why Do Lovers?

Richard Ashcroft

Come now, baby
Stay in bed, don't think that it's lazy
Get ourselves another God
Don't let them tell us there isn't one, isn't one Stay, sweet honey
Life's so fast, ya know it ain't funny
Get ourselves another God
Don't let them tell us there isn't one, isn't one Like we are just skin
Can you behold, know beauty within
Know beauty inside your body
You don't love anybody Why do lovers choose others
We circle, entwine one another
In that mask that we wear with each other
Oh, my God, how I looked in that mirror
And I looked in a hollow picture
It was something I could frame That's right, sweetheart
Life's tough now, life can be hard
Don't blame me for these pressures in life
Don't blame me for this sacrifice, sacrifice Okay, sweetheart
Take your time, I know lovers, they part
Time slows when you're in love
And time moves so fast when it's gettin' on, gettin' on 'Cause we are just skin
Can you behold, I know beauty within
Know beauty inside my body
I don't love any body Why do lovers choose others
To mirror their pain, yeah, slow down stranger
You know that you're in danger
These demons I've got they are major
Ready for you to lay it on

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>