Nobody Dies Anymore

Tweedy

Sitting in a combed out room
Watching the world to end
I won't say golden
Until you let me back inNobody says goodbye
But everybody goes home
We end the day sober
To a depth we don't ownI stand where I grew
Oh, I hated that too
When hell's about to blow in
I saddle up newAnd it won't be long
To find a broken back bone
Or another ocean
Are there any unknownSo I dance my shoe
Beneath the black balloon
Flip it at you for your trouble
So long, so soon
I'm going toNobody dies anymore
But don't you think it's never over
Nobody dies anymore
No badge knock on a dark front door
Some things still change
But
Nobody dies
Nobody dies
Nobody diesDon't I look over my sister
Sister don't you know me no more
She calls me once every summer
Before the leafs turn goldWhen she was the daughter
Of a world without end
They told her I was stolen
She couldn't comprehendPoured out in the street
By the blood in the grass
Poured out at the feet
By the broken glassNobody dies anymore
No badge knock on a dark front door
Some things still change
But
Nobody dies
Nobody dies

Nobody diesLove every song that I know
You ask me well how so Strange I can't defend
I love how every song ends

Songwriters
Jeff TweedyPublished by Lyrics Â© BMG Rights Management

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/