

Half Ready to Half Believe

The Evan Anthem

You're a tree that wants to throw me out
a cliff that wants to push me off
and all I ever wanted was some space to myself.
Some space to breathe in when everything I've been through is you. The air is cold, and I can't run anymore.
I'm half ready to half believe I am the reason for this. You're a lake that wants to pull me in a friend that wants to push me out and all I ever wanted was someone who understands.
The meaning of this all when I was just myself. You're a tree that wants to throw me out
a cliff that wants to push me off
and all I ever wanted was some space to myself.
Some space to breathe in when everything I've been through is you.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>