

Final Cry

Pink Industry

Forging a difference, we summon existence

 This distance is not what it seems

Painstaking process, it pulls at our instincts

 We're living outside of our meansSo long

 I've hoped

 To be strong

Down-slopedAnd the damage will commence

 The beginning of the end

And the damage will commenceAll these occurrences bring me to life

 All that I've sacrificed makes it seem right

 Don't underestimate, how hard I'll try

This is our final cryPlacing a marker on what I must offer

 It's slowly becoming unfair

 Will I recover from being pulled under

 I'm desperate and gasping for airSo long

 I've hoped

 To be strong

Down-slopedThis is not anything that came from me

 You have embedded it within my seed

 All of my memories are blending in

Now the real damage will beginAnd the damage will commence

 The beginning of the end

And the damage will commenceAll these occurrences bring me to life

 All that I've sacrificed makes it seem right

 Don't underestimate how hard I'll try

This is our final cryThis is our final cry

 This is our final cry

 This is our final cry

This is our final cryIt's the beginning of the endAll these occurrences bring me to life

 All that I've sacrificed makes it seem right

 Don't underestimate how hard I'll try

This is our final cryThis is our final cry

 This is our final cry

 This is our final cry

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>