

New Day Rising

Von Herten Brothers

There's hell to pay, I'm on my way
Not a minute more to waste in this town
No time to say goodbye

You held me in your cabaret
Like a gimmick holding back your meltdown
For too long

I don't need a dime to save it for a rainy day
'Cause nothing here has value anymore
Oh no

When the candle is burning out
And I've got nothing left to save but my soul
New York is changing
I will be okay
'Cause we can't turn the wheel to the past
To fix the bad ideas that got out of control
New love needs making
I will be okay
Again

Escaping to the dawning red
I will break the chains and smash the windows
To a world I see much brighter
My home

I believe what I see and go for it
I have never been into chasing rainbows
And so I move on

'Cause nothing here can satisfy my soul

When the candle is burning out
And I've got nothing left to save but my soul
New York is changing
I will be okay
'Cause we can't turn the wheel to the past
To fix the bad ideas that got out of control
New love needs making

I will be okay
Again

When the candle is burning out
And I've got nothing left to save but my soul
New York is changing
I will be okay
'Cause we can't turn the wheel to the past
To fix the bad ideas that got out of control
New love needs making
I will be okay
Again

There's hell to pay
I'm on my way, I'm on my way
Today
There's hell to pay
I'm on my way, I'm on my way
Today
