AEIOU

Give Up The Ghost

Sitting only cause I couldn't stand to walk much further under black skies with watered eyes I was watching the tide rolling in and I was thinking I should move from here and start again
My legs barely hold all of my heart and soul
My ears hardly hear, only our sound is clear
My mouth merely moves, the words just disappear
My eyes see so clear, a reason to careMaybe we weren't supposed to wake up today
Leaving the room only to celebrate that nothing's changed
If I was there, if you were here
The world could end, I wouldn't care
So wake me up never, please Lock the door and lose the keysTo set the record straight- I never could relate and just when it all went wrong, you sang a different song Never knew someone that knew how the years had been
And I never thought that I would ever end up like this So hidden, for and gone, I'm so crowded alone
And I hope you understand, you fixed my broken plan

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/