

Burning the Candle

Ben Ford-Davies

There must be another way to satisfaction

One that wont kill me on the way

For Im losing all my traction

Will I ever love another day

And it makes it hard to walk straight line

When people are standing on your toes

And I cant say that Im not doing fine

But the urgency grows

And my conscience knows

5 35 in the morning and counting

Seeing it all so clear

So why havent I the strength to heed my own warnings

When I feel so cold here

And it makes to play in the straight time

When people are demanding your soul

And I cant that Im not doing fine

But I still feel a hole

And Im not Im not your hero Dont in always seem to go that you dont know what youve got till its gone
