

Hideaway (Little Louis Vega RMX)

Erasure

One day the boy decided
To let them know the way he felt inside
He could not stand to hide it
His mother she broke down and cried Oh my father
Why don't you talk to me now
Oh my mother
Do you still cry yourself to sleep Are you still proud of your little boy
Don't be afraid (Be afraid)
You don't have to hide away The boy he was rejected
By the people that he cared for
It's not what they expected
But he could not keep it secret anymore Far from home now
Waiting by the telephone
There's a new world
You can make it on your own Are you still proud of your little boy
Don't be afraid (Be afraid)
You don't have to hide away
No (Don't be afraid)
(Love will mend your broken wing)
(Time will slip away)
(Learn to be brave) Oh my father
Why don't you talk to me now
Oh my mother
Do you still cry yourself to sleep Are you still proud of your little boy
Don't be afraid (be afraid)
You don't have to hide away (Don't be afraid)
(Love will mend your broken wing)
(Time will slip away)
(Learn to be brave)

Songwriters

HETHERINGTON, ROSS/BAINES, CAMERON/RELF, GRANT Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Universal Music Publishing Group Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>