Better Days

Graham Nash

When your love has moved away
You must face yourself and you must say
I remember better daysDon't you cry 'cause she is gone
She is only moving on
Chasing mirrors through a hazeNow that you know it's nowhere
What's to stop you coming home
All you got to do is go thereThen you'll really realize what's going down
Went to a strange land searching
For a truth you felt was wrongThat's when the heartaches started
Though you're where you want to be
You're not where you belongWhen your love has moved away
You must face yourself and you must say
I remember better daysDon't you cry 'cause she is gone
Chasing mirrors through a haze
