

Better Days

Graham Nash

When your love has moved away
You must face yourself and you must say
I remember better days Don't you cry 'cause she is gone
She is only moving on
Chasing mirrors through a haze Now that you know it's nowhere
What's to stop you coming home
All you got to do is go there Then you'll really realize what's going down
Went to a strange land searching
For a truth you felt was wrong That's when the heartaches started
Though you're where you want to be
You're not where you belong When your love has moved away
You must face yourself and you must say
I remember better days Don't you cry 'cause she is gone
She is only moving on
Chasing mirrors through a haze
