Circle the Fringes

The Gutter Twins

Its all right to take me down
Between the hook and the line I took
Its all right to drag the lake
And find the things you loveThey wont wait in line to see me float
Asleep above the waves
They dont wait in line to bring me up
Ive seen enough todayAll my dreams stroll by unclothed
All my dreams roll by unknownIts all right to kill the dream
You live for though its not
Not enough to save you from yourself
The world she loved too muchNo, this deeper instead, even people
And I believe theres a air when you love
All I see is a dream
That lies beneath the loveTheres a way about her
She can make me do things Im not to do
Cut the line and count to three
And morph into anotherStart the wheel turning
Only bring me some things Ive not seen
Hope from ragged mothers screaming
Born into another worldAll my dreams stroll by unclothed
All my dreams roll by unknownIts all right to take me out
Its all right to take me out
Its all right to take me out
