Belongs To You

Jimmy Wayne

I wasted so much time believing that in this life
You try to get all you can take
When all along what I've been needing
Was to find just one good reason
To give myself, really give myself awayEvery smile that lights my face
Every teardrop, every trace
Every secret, hidden place belongs to youAnything that's good in me
All I ever hope to be
Every drop of every dream belongs to youYou know the me that I remember
Always thought you had to keep it all inside
You get in trouble being tender
So you never say surrender
But finding you has finally proved me wrongEvery smile that lights my face
Every teardrop, every trace
Every secret, hidden place belongs to youAnything that's good in me
All I ever hope to be
Every drop of every dream belongs to youI'm letting go, I'm letting go now
Of everything I've ever held ontoEvery place I've even been Every chance I get again
Every secret, every sin belongs to youAnything that's good in me
All I ever hope to be
Every drop of every dream belongs to youIt all belongs to you
It all belongs to you
