This Is The Way

Devendra Banhart

This is the soup that I believe in
This is the smoke I'm always breathing
This is the way I share my breakfast
This is the way I serve my sentenceI know, I know
I should lay low
I should stand tallThis is the beard I'm always growing
I know they're here, I see them floating
Her empress beards, they float so holy
Their beards are here, they gently hold meWell, who knows, who knows
Yeah, I may come home
Yeah, I may returnThis is the way I'm always leaving
This is the soft voice of the evening
This is the way I hear my father
These are the flames that drown the waterWell, I knew, I knew
I could stand tall
I could lay lowThis is the sound that swims inside me
That circle sound is what surrounds me
This is the land that grows around me
And these are the hands that come in handyWell, we've known, we've known
We've had a choice
We chose rejoice
