Windowsill (Reprise)

The Lake Poets

now come on you said you would go out tonight your feeling not so good but who knows you might come on we've got tonight just me and you i am your satellite if you only knewcause you're watching the world from your windowsill trying to figure it out so much world past your windowsill but you've got your fears and your doubtsin a picture i have of you you're pale and white and you look so miserable how do you feel inside
you can go out tonight if you only knewbut you're watching the world from your windowsill
so much love past your windowsill but you've got your fears and your doubts
