

Hour of Need

April Wine

(myles goodwyn/additional lyrics by lisa blond)

Published by mfg sing sing music/socan - ascapShadows closin' in on me

But through the darkness I can see

Your face is harder than stone

I wish I may, I wish I might

Turn this darkness into light

I'm blind and yet I see, I love youBut I'm a man, I must be strong

I've let these feelings tear me apart for far too long

But in my darkest hour of need

In my darkest hour of needWill I ever love again

Or will it always be pretend

It's my heart that needs to know

What can it be, that you and i

Can't give it one more try

But I know that that won't be, and I love you
