

Last Story

James Vincent McMorrow

(This ain't so hard)
(These are just ordinary times)
(Everything is fine)
(This ain't so hard)
(These are just ordinary times)
(Everything is fine) I saw you out
Take off some clothes
Say something real
Make it real
Cause you're the best
Instinct, I know
Just keep it going
You're the best
Staying at home, listening to feeling
In your mother's basement
Try and hold the
With shallow lights surrounding me
Wander off
You swing in my direction later
It's close enough I swear to god, I'd run for you
You'd find me waiting
And we'd start over
It sounds so easy
Cause it's the last story we'll ever read
So let's start over
It sounds so easy I was young
Sleeping outdoors, listening to demons
I was young
Maybe twice, I picked a fight just to be violent
Maybe twice, I slept inside
I touched the ceiling
I wanna leave
I still believe it's possible for us to be
Be the type to hear the
We both agree, agree we liked it before we started seeing I swear to god, I'd run for you
You'd find me waiting
And we'd start over
It sounds so easy
Cause it's the last story we'll ever read

So let's start over
It sounds so easy I'd run for you
You'd find me waiting
And we'd start over
It sounds so easy
Cause it's the last story we'll ever read
So let's start over
It sounds so easy
I'd run for you
You'd find me waiting
And we'd start over
It sounds so easy
Cause it's the last story we'll ever read
So let's start over
It sounds so easy I'd run for you
You'd find me waiting
And we'd start over
It sounds so easy
Cause it's the last story we'll ever read
So let's start over
It sounds so easy

Songwriters

JAMES MCMORROW, PAUL JEFFERIES Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>