Slow It Down (live)

The Lumineers

I feel her filth in my bones wash off my hands 'til it's gone the walls they're closin' in with velvet curtains Some love was made for the lights some kiss ya cheek and goodnight lift up a red high heel lock up your doors with steel They're makin' noise in my street my blinds are drawn I can't see smashed in my car window didn't touch the stereo Slow it down, Angie, come back to bed rest your arms and rest your legs Act like you've been here before smile less and dress up some more tie up your scarf real tight these boys are out for blood tonight Slow it down, Angie, come back to bed
rest your arms, rest your legs And when she stood she stood tall she'll make a fool of you all don't ask for cigarettes she ain't got nothin' left for you I never, she never, we never look back it wasn't what we were good at and when it came to love we were not good enough Slow it down, Angie, come back to bed
rest your arms, rest your legs Don't you frown when you're feelin' like that only love can dig you out of it
