The Truth

Champion

I know the pain, I feel it too and it's tearing us apart
Can you take a breath, push it aside
And pick yourself back up?You know that the choice to live your life
Lies in the palm of your handYou've got the answers you need, just look inside yourselfSo much at stake, can't waste our time chasing standards
We never set
We know that the choice to live our lives
Lies in the palms of our handsAnd with the struggles faced just to make it through the day
Stepped out of line and found a better way
So much at stake and we can't let our lives pass us by
And the only ones we'll ever chase
Are the standards that we setNow's the time to leave all our mistakes behind
Because we've found the only truth we'll ever need Every struggle faced and choices made will see us through
The words we've said, the promises kept
Is the only truth we need

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/