

Help Me Out

The Wild Feathers

Tired of running with the weight of the world on my back
Tired of living with my heart always under attack Help me out
Underneath the innocence from inside out
Part of me is the enemy
And I'm holding down I'd break it on the ground for you
Just to build it back up brand new Everything I ever loved is broken glass
Everything is real it just don't last
Tired of running with the weight of the world on my back
Tired of living with my heart always under attack Help me out
Take me to a better view where I know my path
And I can see in front of me and I know where I'm at Open me up and see all the love I have for you
I stole this car to get around
Criminal footprints on the ground
Tired of running with the weight of the world on my back
Tired of living with my heart always under attack Help me out
Help me out
Help me out Tired of running with the weight of the world on my back
Tired of living with my heart always under attack
Tired of running with the weight of the world on my back
Tired of living with my heart always under attack Help me out
Help me out
Help me out (you know I'm falling too) Help me out
Help me out
Help me out (you know I'm falling too) Help me out
Help me out
Help me out
