

The Hardest Part

None Left Standing

There's a hush about a subject
In the evening when we fool ourselves
 A muted lover's symphony
Lorelei in you disretions lay and they're killing me
 So if my life was something better
 Like a hunter for his maiden
 And I brought home everything I could
 Would that be enough to hold you, babe
 I don't think it would, oh no
 Moving on gracefully I was second best
 And to see the ease in which you left
 I must confess
 It tore my heart in two, over you
 And the hardest part was leaving too

 So if you find another lover
 Darling don't run for cover
 Just stand your ground, let it all fall down
You can't be the queen of hearts, girl, without your crown no no
 Moving on gracefully I was second best
 And to see the ease in which you left
 I must confess
 It tore my heart in two, over you
 And the hardest part was leaving too
But now I'm brave enough to see the silence in
 The way your eyes cast aside our promises
 And I've finally found a way,
 To turn to you and say
 That the hardest part was yesterday

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>