

Quiet Men

Ultravox

Waiting, we were waiting
As the traffic moved through all our hearts and our heads
But things were different then
For the quiet men Shifting, things were shifting
Through the walls and halls, there were no walls at all
For the quiet friends
Of the quiet men The quiet men
The quiet men Springtime, there was sunshine
Through the window panes, down all the English lanes
Where they walked again
The quiet men Talking, they were talking
Of the times to come and all the time that's gone
And they smiled again
The quiet men The quiet men
The quiet men Listening, they were listening
As the season changed and all the reasons changed
And people came and went
By the quiet men Walking, they were walking
Through the rainy days, looking at all the faces
But no one ever noticed them
The quiet men The quiet men
The quiet men The quiet men
The quiet men
