They Stretch for Miles

Converge

Up for days cutting losses and trading in the most precious of wings
The nights never end and these ghosts will never know true rest
They stretch for miles, they take me home
In the name of love and you I say sometimes when you win the war you lose it all Towering, they stretch for miles speaking as eloquently as the tallest of tales
They stretch for miles, they take me home

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/