

Violins And Tambourines

Stereophonics

Looking out the window
Staring at the road
Doesn't really matter
Which way to go
Everything is changing
Nothing ever seems to stay the same

Violins and tambourines
Candy canes and magazines
Preachers sermons on the street
I killed a man but life is cheap
she said

Stopped on the way home side of the road
met her at the drug store saving people's souls
she offered me redemption
I'll take a drink instead if that's ok

Violins and tambourines
Candy canes and magazines
Preachers sermons on the street
I killed a man but life is cheap
They say

Violins and tambourines
Candy canes and magazines
Preachers sermons on the street
I killed a man but life is cheap

Violins and tambourines
Children sing songs in the street
Innocence is underrated
Knock me out I'll be sedated

Violins and tambourines
Pounding drums in unity
She's just to emancipated
Every time we meet she wants to save me

She wants to save me

Can she save me?

Won't you save me?

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by JONES, KELLY / LOWE, JIM

Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>