I'll Forget You

Kurt Nilsen

You dared to tell me I'll forget you
And I won't need you like I always have
And that you'll come to be a memory
That fades away, that turns to greyI know that there's no sense in looking back
And there's no point in hanging on
So over and over I will let you go
But you will not be goneI'll forget you every day
All the time in every place
One thing will never change
I'll forget you every dayYou're like a rock that I push up a hill
Knowing that it'll tumble right back down again
Like a man who walks against the stream
He never quits, I'll never quitI'll forget you every day
All the time in every place
See you in a stranger's face
Erase you from my mind
I got better things to do
I'll forget youEvery night I close my eyes and go to sleep
Every night the same old, you come to me
It's like a nightmare or such a sweet sweet dream
That won't go away, won't go awayI'll forget you every day
All the time in every place
See you in a stranger's face
Erase you from my mindI got better things to do
Than to remember you
One thing will never change
I'll forget you every day
