Guilty Sheets

Tomorrow's Finest

Do you get happier with every word that leaves your mouth?
Like what you say is a method of letting everything out
But I can't base my decisions on what you say to me
'Cause I don't have a good reason to think that you could want me

It's hard to tell from the way you've been acting
But I keep quiet 'cause I'm tired of asking

Baby, can't you see you're not invincible?
Guilty sheets can take their toll
But I know that you know that I'm not letting go
I'll sit back and watch as you put on your show

Don't you know that you are terrible?
You threw it all away for a night that was unbearable
Where did I go wrong?
I was right there all along

Where did I go wrong?
But I won't sit around and wait for you to make up your mind
I'd be wasting breath to tell you that you were never worth my time
'Cause you're burning bridges
And the smoke is making it harder to see
The person I thought you were
I can't believe you got the best of me

I've gotta find a way to show you who I am underneath
'Cause what you see and what you feel, they can be two different things
You can't deny it when I tell you that you've got a problem
I've got dreams and aspirations; you will never stop 'em

It's hard to tell from the way you've been acting
But I keep quiet 'cause I'm tired of asking

Baby, can't you see you're not invincible?
Guilty sheets can take their toll
But I know that you know that I'm not letting go
I'll sit back and watch as you put on your show

Don't you know that you are terrible?

You threw it all away for a night that was unbearable
Where did I go wrong?
I was right there all along

I can't wait for you to beg me for a second chance
I've figured out your true intentions and I'm taking a stance

I can't wait for you to beg me for a second chance
I've figured out your true intentions and I'm taking a stance

Lyrics Submitted by sta$h

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/