Angel

Koda

Where will I go when you don't need me anymore
Filled with questions as you waltz right out the door
I am beaten, cast aside and dragged through dirt
You are needed, you are neededWe are the only ones who know where we belong
We are the only ones who know
We are the only ones who know where we belong
We are the only ones who knowWhere will I go when you don't need me anymore
Filled with questions that you want me to ignore
I am defeated, still alive but I am numb
You are needed, you are neededWe are the only ones who know where we belong
We are the only ones who know
We are the only ones who know where we belong
We are the only ones who know
